A curatorial swarm – a team of six intellectuals – staged an art exhibit, The Multispecies Salon, alongside the 2010 meetings of the AAA in New Orleans. Swarming, a form of collective action modeled after honeybees, has been celebrated (by the likes of Hardt and Negri) as a form of radical politics: “In the swarm model suggested by animal societies... we see emerging new networks of political organizations... composed of a multitude of different creative agents” (2004:92).

By the late Tang dynasty, landscape painting had evolved into an independent genre that embodied the universal longing of cultivated men to escape their quotidian world to commune with nature. Such images might also convey specific social, philosophical, or political convictions. As the Tang dynasty disintegrated, the concept of withdrawal into the natural world
