In rabbinic literature, the hiddenness of God, whether in Esther or in history, is called hester panim, "the hidden face." Likewise, the holiday itself is designated by the Pey KeyWord Purim (Lots) which comes from root parar meaning to break, since lots were made from broken shards of pottery. All of this brings us face to face with the fundamental integration of the meaning of the Seventeenth Letter with the name, theme, and meaning of the Seventeenth Book.
